An Air Force T-38C Talon trainer crashed Tuesday near Brackettville, but both pilots ejected safely.

The aircraft, a supersonic plane used to train fighter and bomber pilots, was flying a routine mission after taking off from Laughlin AFB when it went down about 3:45 p.m., base spokeswoman Lt. Sheila Johnston said.

It wasn't clear exactly where or why the plane crashed.

Emergency personnel found the pilots in stable condition.

The Air Force did not release the pilots' names and provided few details of the crash, the second this year for the Air Education and Training Command at Randolph AFB.
